

Greetings,

We are pleased that CODS Journal of Dentistry is presenting its 7th volume of 2015. The journal has been proving to be an excellent platform for sharing and acquiring knowledge. We are also excited that it has been attracting papers from a variety of advanced and emerging topics of interest in our field. I am delighted to extend my sincere appreciation to all the contributors and the esteemed editors who, through each issue of the journal, are building a greener legacy in evidence based clinical practice.

So I urge all the beneficiaries to get actively involved in the fast paced growth of our periodical through your valuable contributions.

Thank you.
